

Tech Offer – Food Sustainability

Specific Pathogen Free Mudcrab Crablet Production

- Crab farming in many crab producing countries is usually extensive and natural resource based. Due to cheap and abundant space and low labour cost with no or minimal utility cost, overseas mud crab farms have been able to keep the mud crab production cost low.
- There are no commercially available pelleted feeds with customized nutrition catering for different crab growth stages.
- An environmentally friendly treatment of new wild caught adult crabs was developed after comparing different treatment methods. The method that uses a formulation that gives the highest reduction of bacteria count.

